Dedication...

We, the 1945 Senior Class of Hopewell High School, in recognition of her unselfish and loyal devotion to the interests of the students, dedicate our twentieth volume of the Kaleidoscope to AUDREY FRANCES CHAMBLISS. Her fine character and true courage in doing what she believes to be right have set for us a guiding standard and ideal. We are deeply indebted to her for having enriched our culture and knowledge through her untiring energy and enthusiasm. No amount of words can express the deep feelings and sincere gratitude we have for her as a teacher and a friend.

Foreword

In the publication of the KALEIDOSCOPE of 1945, we wish to give others part of the satisfaction we have received from our classes and enjoyable activities in Hopewell High School. Through four years of high school during war we have progressed from Freshmen to Seniors, acquiring not only the information gained from books but practical experiences, also. We feel deeply indebted to our teachers who are responsible for the knowledge that we have obtained. We hope that the insight into the activities of H. H. S. gained through this book will bring a greater and more sincere appreciation of our Alma Mater.

Class Poem

FAREWELL

The time has come to say goodbye,
To you, our friends, in Hopewell High.
We'll miss our classes and the sound of the bell,
And other things we loved so well.

Our faculty has been our guide and our stay,
To show us the why, the wherefore, the way.
Our principal has been the best of his kind,
A more helpful person, we'll never find.

Our hearts are heavy, but our hopes are high;
It makes us sad to say goodbye.
We've grown to love you more each year;
We cross the threshold with a little fear.

Tomorrow we start on the road to life,
A road full of war, turmoil, and strife.
Whatever may come, we'll do our best,
So, we'll bid farewell to H.H.S.

—Dorothy Doult

Class Prophecy

As I sat in my easy chair, the sharp ring of the doorbell startled me. I immediately went to answer it, and to my surprise there stood a boy from Buck Rickman's telegraph office, with a telegram in his hand. As I unfolded it, I saw it was signed by Mayor "Sonny" Enochs of Hopewell, Virginia. It stated that I was urged to attend the reunion of the graduating class of 1945.

I unconsciously gazed up at the calendar and realized that it was now the year of 1958. It had been 13 years since I had graduated from Hopewell High School.

The reunion was to be held in the teeming metropolis of Hopewell, Virginia, the next day. I immediately packed my things, rushed to the airport, and boarded a plane. The pilot came up and greeted me. I recognized him at once as Earle Worley, the famous Transcontinental Flyer. The hostess, Rothie Nobles, informed me that she was now the wife of Earle Worley.

Our first stop was Hollywood, California. Pretty girl Carol Keener and Mrs. Fred Morene, the former Miss Bertha Crocker, MGM Studio's leading stars, boarded the plane. As the plane was about to take off, the pilot suddenly stopped the ship. The reason was that Luggie Hutto, director of Metro Goldwyn Hutto Studios, has been delayed by his latest production, "The Wolf Howls at Night," starring Edna Rafey and Walter Sheppe.

As we resumed our journey, I interested myself with the morning paper which seemed to be a special Hopewell edition according to the news items. On the front page was an article telling how a large Chicago fire had been put out by Fire Chief Fill Cuddihy, assisted by Charles Bausell, Sidney Harrison, and Leo Edmondson. I turned to the sports page and I saw that Dante Frankie and Tommy George, ex-pro football players, had purchased the pennant winning football team, the Hopewell Devils. I also saw that the famous music teacher, Dorothy Doult, had dislocated her jaw while on the highest note of the song "L'Accent-u-ate le Positive." The noted specialist, Dr. William Broaddus was called to administer help. He was assisted by his nurses, Joyce McRae and Jean Massey.

Suddenly the plane plunged into a sickening dive. The stewardess requested that everyone fasten his safety belt in order to prepare for a crash landing. Suddenly, Tony Moogalion sprang up from his seat, asking if anyone wished to take out life insurance. He shouted, "Now or never, buy your insurance from the Earl Hogarth Life Insurance Company."

The plane crashed into the world's greatest engineering wonder, Tinker's Dam, built by the world-renowned engineers, Robert Lee, Dick Westlake, and Sidney Connelly. As we dragged ourselves from the plane, Melbourne Pearson, the eminent cartoonist, casually remarked, "Tinker's Dam isn't worth a Tinker's Dam, now." After a few minutes, an ambulance arrived driven by Nello Alexander. Three of the most famed nurses in the country, Alice Rusnak, Marguerite Collins, and "Monkey" Falls began administering first aid. Doris Talton, the brilliant teacher who was on the plane, suffered a serious injury consisting of a sprained eyelash.

The George (Sordelett) Spatig bus line sent one of its buses driven by Agnes Harvey to take us to the train. As we arrived at the train station, the engineer, Roywell Herdman, informed me he would take us to our destination aboard the Hopewell Reunion Special.

On the train I noticed Charles Connelly, the handsome Casanova, up to his old tricks again, flirting with the Belle of Bellewood, Marion Jackson. Someone came and tapped me on the shoulder and I turned to see Thales Green, an eccentric scientist who had achieved fame through the invention of a perpetual motion machine.

Upon sitting down, I heard someone say, pointing to Bessie Leigh, "They call her the SenSen girl—she takes your breath away."

"What is that thing on her head?" I exclaimed.

"That's one of the outstanding hats designed by the famous hat designer, Libby Crichton," was the answer.

At our next stop, four of the world's most noted scientists boarded the train. They were Johnnie Lastovica, Ida Abrams, Barbara Furr, and Isabelle Vartanion. Following them, Frankie Olson got on the train assisted by John Wells, librarian of the John Randolph Wells Library in Hopewell. Frankie had been given the title, Miss Bubble Gum of 1958. They were followed by two dress designers, Marie Holc and Tудie Pope.

Glancing out of the train window, I saw the Barbara Hudson Beauty Salon. The chief hair dresser was "Tut" Connolly. Arlene Herdman, now an Army wife, was sitting opposite me, laughing as usual. I heard Virginia LaFoon, Estelle Morris, and Louise Minor discussing their new stenographic jobs at Dorothy Sale's "Tonight or Never" lipstick factory.

Margaret Pearson, who invented the new reversible Kleenex, was talking to Bobby Henry, reputed basketball coach. Bernice Aldridge and her new heart throb, William Gates, were sitting in a dark, secluded, cozy corner, carefully eating Jean Holsclaw's famous Coleslaw and reading about Elizabeth Opocensky, the Navy's newest pin-up girl. Doris Ellis hurried down the aisle to the women's drinking fountain. Doris was now State Supervisor of Physical Education of Virginia.

Then I noticed Anna Lastovica, famous nurse, busily attending to her two patients, Richard Gleason and Wiley Eavcy, both noted inventors. They had been hurt while working on their new invention which was so secret, even they didn't know what it was.

As the train drew into Petersburg, one of the suburbs of Hopewell, we began gathering up our baggage and preparing to get off. After a few minutes, the train drew to a stop in Hopewell's Main Street Station. Fay Lewis's brass band was playing as we stepped down from the platform. The whole town was celebrating the arrival of the class of '45.

Robert Harrison, principal of Hopewell High School, drove us to the west wing of the school, which had been designed by Gus Hnarakis. Lucille Waters, Catherine Williams, and Myrtice Swindell, all commercial teachers at Hopewell High School, met us.

The party had already begun. Evelyn Butterworth and Alma Reid, local businesswomen, were standing in the hall admiring the paintings of Marie Garrett. Nancy Ellis and Frances Garfinkel, co-owners of Hopewell's leading department store, were listening to Irving Sacra's singing. He was accompanied by Robert Barnett with his guitar. The rooms were artistically decorated by the interior decorator, Helen Sapon. Juanita Balderson had just arrived from North Carolina, where she had been serving as a foreign missionary. Louise Bailey arrived in the new helicopter her husband had just given her.

Neil Hall, owner of the A. Q. Grocery Stores, and his bookkeeper, Reba Barber, were drinking some of Kathryne Case's "Kikapoo Cola." Wilford Leach was reading his own book titled, "Love in a Dixie Cup." Elpie Doulis and Jane Croom, noted orators, were busily arguing concerning Thelma Dooley's marriage. David Ameen, now a commissioned officer in the Army, was busily engaged in admiring Betty Thompson and Thalia Eliades, two Power's models drinking "Lime and Coca Cola." Edith Birchett and her Corn Cobblers were playing while Lois Townes was singing the new hit song, "Me and You in an Igloo." Vivian Connelly, coach of the basketball team of Hopewell, arrived in her B-98.

At 4 A.M., as I staggered to my bed, my thoughts wandered back to the good times and good friends I had in the class of '45. So I closed my thoughts for the day, and so I close this prophecy, saying "Here's to the class of '45."

Hopewell High may well be proud of this season's Devilettes. Out of ten games played, only two were lost and one tied. High scoring honors went to Patsy Morris whose fast ball handling was outstanding, causing her to score 92 points. Marguerite Collins was second with 63 points and Margaret Falls next with 37 points. A total of 214 points was scored by the Devilettes and 180 points by their opponents.

The splendid cooperation of Collins, Falls, and Morris accounted for the high scoring while the fine playing of Furr, Garfinkel, and Robertson was greatly responsible for the low scoring of their opponents. When playing on large courts, the guards used their one-defense and on small courts, a man-to-man defense was used.

Besides the six varsity players, Juanita Balderson, forward, and Margaret Karabedian, guard, along with the manager, Vivian Connelly, earned letters. This year's team started with one letterman, Frances Garfinkel.

Three of the lettermen will return next year: Patsy Morris, Marjorie Robertson, and Margaret Karabedian. These will form the nucleus of the 1946 Devilettes, whose manager will be Louise Birchett.

This year, as formerly, the Devilettes wound up the season by a challenging game with the faculty.

COACH JACQUELINE TURNES

The two major sports for the girls are basketball and softball; however, the physical education program is so planned by Coach Turnes that each girl in high school may have an opportunity to participate in a variety of activities. Among these activities are corrective exercises, folk dances, intramural games, health and physical fitness instruction, nature walks, and track events.

At the beginning of the year, squad leaders were elected in each physical education class and each had a team composed of from 8-12 members. These class teams competed in basketball, softball, and skill tests.

Before the regularly scheduled games, intramural games were played with the Senior team emerging undefeated. The four class teams were as follows:

|-----------------------|-----------------------|--------------------------|-------------------------|
| Juanita Balderson     | Jackie Booth          | Evelyn Carelock          | Elton Bogan             |
| Marguerite Collins    | Maud Minter           | Anne Finley              | Katherine Johnson       |
| Margaret Falls        | Patsy Morris          | Joan Meadors             | Joan Wilkerson          |
| Ida Abrams            | Betty Douth           | Mary Brough              | Mary Boettcher          |
| Barbara Furr          | Dolores Lipp          | Louise Gilbert           | Mary Hudson             |
| Frances Garfinkel     | Marjorie Robertson    | Connie Ginger            | Billie Lee Scott        |

Coach Turnes selected her squad to represent the school from the above teams. Margaret Falls was high scorer for the Seniors with 39 points out of a total number of 107. For the Juniors, Patsy Morris scored highest with 24 out of 78 points. The Sophomore high scorer, Anne Finley, totaled 23 points from a total 59. Scoring honors for the Freshmen went to Elton Bogan who scored 8 out of 10 points. Many girls reported for these intramural contests.

The softball Squad of 1944 was able to schedule games only with Dinwiddie and Midway due to transportation difficulties. The Devilettes hope to have a more successful softball season in 1945.

Realizing how enjoyable and successful this year has been, we sincerely hope that the ensuing years may be as pleasurable as 1945.

COACH LESLIE PARSON

Hopewell High's fall semester athletic program opened on September the first with the beginning of the football season. About forty boys reported for practice. Among these were six lettermen. Dante Frankie, one of the lettermen, was unable to report for practice during the first part of the season because of illness during the summer. Football lasted through Thanksgiving Day. Basketball was soon under way after this and ended February the twenty-third. Baseball season followed closely, lasting until May. These three sports are not the only athletic activities which may be participated in. The physical education classes offer programs for physical fitness and recreation through varied class activities. Intramural sports, which are very popular, afford to a greater number of students opportunities for taking part in competitive activities.

Coach Parson turns out a fine group of boys in all three of the main sports in which we participate. No matter how inexperienced his material is, he always manages to turn out a hard fighting group of boys.

Football 1944

The 1944 pigskin warriors of Hopewell High wound up a very successful gridiron season with five successes and four setbacks. The Blue Devils, encountering one of the toughest schedules of any team in the state, showed the same fighting spirit that has always been a tradition.

Coach Parson tutored the Blue Devil machine to the following successful football season.

NEWPORT NEWS 6 HOPEWELL 12

In a game highlighted by two long touchdown runs, Hopewell High's Blue Devils opened their 1944 football season with a 12-6 upset win over a heavier and more experienced Newport News eleven. Coach Parson's eleven, taking nothing for granted, played heads-up ball all the way, outplaying the Tidewater boys in every department. Buddy Cotman, veteran guard, showed up especially well in his position, making possible one touchdown with a spectacular block on two of the typhoon players. Bruce Price intercepted one of the Tidewater passes and ran 60 yards for the second score.

ST. CHRISTOPHER 20 HOPEWELL 6

The Blue Devils, although decidedly hampered because of the loss of their triple threat back, Rudy Futch, who was not able to play due to injuries sustained in the Newport News game, put up a determined fight but were overcome by a stronger and heavier St. Christopher team on a wet field. Butch Goodwin, recovering a Saint fumble deep in their own territory, set up the stage for our only touchdown. Neil Atwater, using the same quarterback sneak that brought the first score against Newport News, hit the line hard and went over for the score.

PORTSMOUTH 25 HOPEWELL 2

The strong Woodrow Wilson High School team of Portsmouth downed Hopewell 25-2 on the local field causing the Blue Devils to suffer their first Class A conference defeat of the season. The Blue Devils played their most rugged game of the year partially because of the fact that four boys in the starting lineup were injured early in the game.

PETERSBURG 33 HOPEWELL 6

The Blue Devils traveled to Petersburg in fairly good shape with hopes of a hard-fought victory, but the Crimson lads proved a little more powerful. The Blue Devils played a magnificent game for the first half. Petersburg, having a lot of strong reserves, soon wore them down in the final period. Rudy Futch, Blue Devil ace kicker, passer, and runner, played heads-up ball in all three departments. Dickie Brockwell, Devil End, also showed up well in his position, catching one of Futch's passes for our only touchdown.

BENEDICTINE 0 HOPEWELL 6

On a very cold night the local pigskin squad nosed out the Benedictine Cadets with a thrilling 80-yard touchdown run by Bruce Price and a good pass defense by a determined backfield. Too much cannot be said about the playing of Bruce Price and Rudy Futch. Price, after hammering on the Cadets' wall-like line, finally broke away to steal the show for the night with an 80-yard run right through the Cadets' line. Futch broke up many of the Cadets' passes that would have been a score for the Richmond lads and a defeat for Hopewell.

JOHN MARSHALL 7 HOPEWELL 20

Futch, living up to his name, launched an aerial attack with three touchdown passes, with Brockwell, Goodwin, and Price on the receiving end of the pigskin. Brockwell stepped into the backfield and threw a short pass to Allen Garrett, Devil quarterback. He did a fine job quarterbacking the Devil Machine. He packs a real wallop when he drives 175 pounds of power against the opposing line. He gave Hopewell their first conversion of the season by the booting method in this game. Stanley Dereski, who played tackle for Hopewell, played exceptionally well on the defense.

CREWE 6 HOPEWELL 43

This game was a take and give proposition on a muddy gridiron until the fourth quarter, when Maury got a lucky break and completed a touchdown pass. The game was a heartbreaker because the Maury boys took the lead when there were a little over 60 seconds to play. The local boys were considerably outweighed in both the backfield and the line.

CREWE 6 HOPEWELL 43

The Hopewell High Blue Devils won a decisive victory over a small but scrappy Crewe eleven. Wells, the pride and joy that afternoon, did some nice running on reverses, accounting for three of the seven touchdowns. One was a full seventy-five yards of nice broken-field running. Bruce Price came in next with two touchdowns to his credit. The famous pair clicked again that day for the seventh tally when Dickie Brockwell took a pass from the accurate passing arm of Rudy Futch. Buddy Cotman, excellent at his right guard post persuaded Coach Parson to give him a try in the backfield, and he fulfilled his promise of making good when he hit the line and broke clear in the fourth frame for a 55-yard touchdown romp. Rudy Futch and Dante Frankie completed 10 out of 15 passes. Charles McLean (yes, there is another McLean on the squad and another one coming on, too). Blue Devil center, who has averaged intercepting a pass a game, played his usual good game both offensively and defensively.

THOMAS JEFFERSON 0 HOPEWELL 13

The Blue Devils, not in any too good shape for their traditional Turkey Day rivalry with the Teejays, played their hearts out for an injured teammate, a hard working Coach, a grand old high school, and a faithful group of team followers. The light Devils hit pay dirt again on a rain soaked gridiron, with Futch on the sidelines and again stole the show by breaking through the Richmond line, blocking a punt, picking up the ball, and scampering for the first tally. Bruce Price did very well in the passing department with a slippery ball. He heaved a touchdown pass with a few minutes to play to Earle Worley for the second score. Garrett passed to Brockwell for the conversion.

The Blue Devils hung up their uniforms after a colorful and successful season. The Devils had 5 wins and 4 losses for the year and a 3-3 standing in the Class A conference race. The Hopewell gridironers scored 108 points to their opponents' 103. Three members of the team, Rudy Futch, Dickie Brockwell, and Buddy Cotman were given honorable mention on the all-state Class A High School football team.

The entire Blue Devil squad, Coach Parson, and Hopewell High officials were guests of the Rotary Club for a delicious supper and interesting talk by Coach Frank Murry of the University of Virginia. They were also entertained with their dates by a banquet at the Masonic Temple. With this the 1944 football season was closed.

These three were lost to the team in February along with two other first string players, Robert Layne and Bobby Harrison. Bobby Henry, Sydney Connelly, Bishop Knott, Bruce Price, and Earle Worley took their place on the varsity. The season was very dark for the Hopewell lads. They played 12 games winning 2.
